

WHAT EXPERIENCE TEACHES.

The Reno Gazette has the following regarding the Legislature and the Constitution:

At the annual meeting of the Board of Trade, Saturday, there was a good attendance and much interest manifested in the economic questions now agitating the public mind. There can be no doubt that the people are fully alive to the subject. The question to be decided is how best to proceed to bring it about. Some claim that to call a Constitutional Convention would be dangerous, for fear that the wily politician would get some clause engrafted into the document that would make it objectionable to the people and they would not ratify the work, and in the State's present impoverished condition we cannot afford to spend the $50,000 it would cost to try the experiment. They claim, too, that all that is necessary can be done by the Legislature if the members will go to work at it with the intention of bringing it about. On the other hand many claim—and we believe the majority—that a Constitutional Convention is the thing that will bring us the needed relief. The Gazette favors a Constitutional Convention, not because the relief sought could not be had through Legislative enactment if the members would do their duty, but because past experience has taught us that they will not, or have not in years gone by given us much relief. On the contrary they have run things with a high hand, and actually made places for defunct politicians. Now even there is a movement on foot in this county to make another office at the Asylum to be filled by some old back number. Nevada has a good constitution, but there are too many loop holes in it for the politicians to crawl through. We believe if the Legislature would follow out the Gazette's suggestion editorially made a few days ago, that it would fully satisfy the people without holding a Constitutional Convention, but when it comes to reducing their own number and cutting down the per diem, experience has taught us that they will not do it.

COAST NEWS.

A young son of George Redding of Marquand, Or., was fatally injured by a runaway team.

John Miles, one of the Spokane Falls cattle thieves, who was shot by Sheriff Pugh on Thursday, is dead.

Giuseppe Coli, aged fifty-one years, died at Tomales on Sunday of blood poisoning, caused by an injury to one of his hands.

One of the Indians implicated in the murder of Freighter Cotes, near Connelly, Okanogan county, Wash., was lynched on Saturday.

Captain George, Chief of a tribe of Indians near Vancouver, B. C., together with another Indian and a squaw, were drowned on Saturday by the overturning of their boat.

August E. Forgous of Sacramento shot and killed his wife during a quarrel Sunday night. He was arrested. The parties were married two years ago. The deceased has two married daughters and a son by a former husband.

George Newman of San Francisco, was accidentally shot on Saturday while hunting quail north of San Rafael. He and two others were about to pitch tent for the night when Newman went to take his gun from the wagon. It was in some way discharged, badly shattering his face and completely severing his ear.

Germany has a new army gun. It is composed of two barrels, one inserted under the other, fitted very loosely but held by bands or rivets, thus allowing a free circulation of air all around the inside one in use and precluding the barrel from getting red hot and falling to pieces.

Grand Chancellor Benjamin Currier arrived in Virginia Monday night, and last night conducted the installation of the newly elected officers of Triumph and Nevada Lodges, K. of P., of that city.
